

SOCIAL CHANGE AGENCY

Supporting educators, administrators and policy workers in their learning and leadership for social change

For more than 20 years I have worked with colleagues to develop and facilitate a range of professional learning events and programs for schools, universities and organisations, related to inquiry learning, critical literacy, gender equity, intercultural understanding, personal development and relationships, bullying and violence prevention, and boys' education.

I welcome opportunities to provide support in these areas.

Support for Social Change Agency Associates

I am happy to support the Associates group set up by Social Change Agency. Since the arrival of the 'new public management' there has been a decline in research capacity and organisational memory in the public sector. Education is no exception. With outsourcing, some poor quality research and advising has filled the vacuum. It has become important to have good quality consultancy available. This group offers experience and serious educational thought, and includes some of the best educational researchers in the country.
