Conversation with Ginene Humphrey

And just like the spores from a dandelion... when the darkness found me, I would leave my body (Dandelions Transcript 2011). Ginene Humphrey holds a Masters Honours (1st Class) in Fine Art (Film) and is in the final stages completing a Doctorate via the Griffith University Film School. As part of her doctorate, she is about to release her 'brave' and 'gritty' full-length feature documentary film called 'DANDELIONS' to show the truth about what it is really like for adult survivors of child abuse, neglect and abandonment, and to trigger serious discussion into the long-term realities faced by often 'silenced' survivors, its effect upon families - and thus society as a whole. Discussion will follow a screening of the documentary trailer.

Registration: $20 by Wednesday 29th November
(includes supper and non-alcoholic drinks, wine to purchase or BYO)

RSVP to Maria at TheSCENE@email.com with your name, organisation, role, dietary preferences and contact details.
