Conversation with Ginene Humphrey

Ginene Humphrey holds a Masters Honors (1st Class) in Fine Art (Film) and is now in the final stages completing a Doctorate via the Griffith University Film School. As part of her doctorate, she is about to release her 'brave' and 'gritty' full-length feature documentary film called 'DANDELIONS' to show the truth about what it is really like for adult survivors of child abuse, neglect and abandonment, aiming to trigger serious discussion into the long-term realities faced by often 'silenced' survivors, its effect upon families - and thus society as a whole. A screening of the documentary trailer will be followed by a Q & A session.

Registration: Early birds by Wednesday 22th Nov $30, by Wednesday 29th Nov $40, low income - $20 (includes supper and non-alcoholic drinks, wine to purchase or BYO)

RSVP to Maria at TheSCENE@email.com with your name, organisation, role, dietary preferences and contact details.
